

Harvey Ng Yih Xiang

Harvey is a Senior Associate in the firm's Corporate & Commercial Disputes and Technology, Media and Telecommunications Practice Groups. He read law at University of Bristol and was called to the Bar of England and Wales in 2019. He was admitted as an advocate and solicitor of the High Court of Malaya in 2020.

Working alongside Partner G. Vijay Kumar, Harvey plays a key role in the TMT Practice Group. His practice encompasses a broad range of corporate and commercial disputes, with a particular focus on litigation involving telecommunications infrastructure, software development, and contractual disputes. He also provides legal advice on issues arising throughout the software development lifecycle and advises on compliance and regulatory matters under the Communications and Multimedia Act 1998 and the Personal Data Protection Act 2010.

Harvey has been recognised by The Legal 500 Asia Pacific as a key lawyer in the TMT sector, with clients noting his in-depth knowledge, practical advice, and responsiveness. A client has commended him as "very responsive to our requests and has in-depth knowledge in the subject matter. He provides sound and practical advice and is generally of great assistance."

In addition to his practice, Harvey regularly contributes to the firm's publications, co-authoring articles that provide insights into emerging legal challenges and developments in the TMT sector.
